Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Character of the Southern States of America: Letter to a Friend Who Had Joined the Southern Independence Association After this, they voted that Texas should enter the Union; and the intrigues of the Southern party accepted the gift, against the indignant protests of the free party of the North. The Mexican war which followed, politically was not worse than our Asiatic wars, but about as bad. It was nevertheless entered into (as I understand) by a breach of the constitution, and against the utmost effort of all that party of the North which is now in power; and it aimed avowedly at the extension of slavery, which cannot be said of us, in our worst wickedness. Victorious in this war, the South endeavoured, but failed in the endeavour, to establish slavery in California. After this came the buccaneering attacks on Cuba and Nicaragua, the ferocious marauding against Kansas, also the Ostend congress of the American ministers in Europe, which but a few years back was accepted by all England as nothing short of an apotheosis...
